The Journey of Laurent-Perrier Blanc de Blancs Brut Nature

The creation of Blanc de Blancs Brut Nature is a meticulous process that starts in the vineyard. The Chardonnay grapes are sourced from some of the most prestigious vineyards in Champagne, specifically the Côte des Blancs and the Montagne de Reims. These regions are renowned for producing high-quality Chardonnay, thanks to their unique terroirs and climates.

Once the grapes are harvested, they undergo a careful vinification process designed to preserve their natural flavors. Laurent-Perrier's commitment to minimal intervention means that no sugar is added during the production, allowing the grape's true character to come through. This results in a champagne that's exceptionally clean and crisp, with a bright, refreshing acidity.

The wine is then aged for a minimum of 8 years, a period that allows it to develop a rich complexity. During this time, the champagne gains a range of aromas and flavors, from zesty citrus to more nuanced, toasty notes. This aging process is crucial for achieving the balance and sophistication that Blanc de Blancs Brut Nature is known for.

Tasting Notes

On the nose, Blanc de Blancs Brut Nature offers a delightful bouquet of citrus fruits, with lemon and grapefruit taking center stage. There are also subtle hints of white flowers and a touch of minerality, adding to the wine's allure. On the palate, it's bright and lively, with a fine mousse and a long, clean finish. The lack of dosage (added sugar) ensures that the champagne is dry and crisp, making it incredibly refreshing and elegant.

While Blanc de Blancs Brut Nature is versatile enough to be enjoyed on its own, it truly shines when paired with food.
