Bollinger has unveiled PN VZ19, the latest edition in its PN series, showcasing an expressive and harmonious take on Pinot Noir. Crafted primarily from grapes sourced in the Grand Cru village of Verzenay, this cuvée epitomizes the blend of tradition and contemporary craftsmanship that defines the Maison.

PN VZ19 represents the 2019 vintage with distinctive depth and character, offering a unique Blanc de Noirs expression. It reflects Bollinger's heritage while highlighting its commitment to innovation. According to Charles-Armand de Belenet, Managing Director of Champagne Bollinger, this release captures the essence of the Maison's DNA: a singular vision of Pinot Noir and the relentless pursuit of stylistic excellence that has driven the house since its founding in 1829.

Pinot Noir is at the heart of Bollinger's style, a hallmark of the brand since its inception. The PN cuvée series aims to magnify the unique expressions of this iconic grape across various terroirs. Each edition focuses on a primary cru and a base vintage, offering a distinct interpretation of the vineyards and craftsmanship behind Bollinger's enduring reputation.

PN VZ19 features grapes sourced primarily from Verzenay, a historic vineyard for Bollinger. It delivers an elegant and expressive profile, designed to captivate discerning wine enthusiasts. Visually, it presents a luminous golden-yellow hue. On the nose, it offers vibrant currant notes, sweet aromas of yellow fruit, and citrus accents such as candied lemon and bergamot, complemented by subtle red fruit and honeyed nuances.

On the palate, it reveals a combination of stone fruit and tart green apple, layered with softer, sweeter flavors. Zesty citrus notes, including blood orange, finish the experience with a silky texture and a touch of salinity, adding remarkable freshness and complexity.

Designed for sharing among Pinot Noir lovers, PN VZ19 invites exploration of Champagne's nuanced expressions. With a recommended retail price of €142, it stands as a testament to Bollinger's dedication to celebrating the exceptional.
